

HICKMAN, KIDNAPER-MURDERER, IS HANGED TODAY

PRESIDENT DEDICATED BATTLEFIELD

Prosperity, Standard of Living Best in Nation's History

Washington, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Dedication of the Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania County Battlefields Memorial Park, in memory of the hundred and thirteen thousand lives that were lost there in the Civil War, today called President Coolidge into Virginia.

He will return to the White House tonight after delivering the principal address of the dedication ceremonies. Admiral Charles F. Hughes, Chief of Naval Operations; Major General John A. Lejeune, Commandant of the Marine Corps; Brig. Gen. Brant H. Wells, Active Chief of Staff, and Senator Swanson of Virginia, were to accompany the chief executive to Fredericksburg.

At Fredericksburg Mr. Coolidge delivered his address from a stand on the actual battlefield and within sight of the spot where thirteen thousand casualties piled up in the course of five hours in 1862.

Cities Prosperity. Congress authorized at the last session the establishment of a national military park to include the battlefields of Fredericksburg, Spotsylvania, Chancellorsville, Wilderness and Salem Church.

American prosperity and standards of living have reached levels "never before experienced by any people in human history," the President said in dedicating the battle fields.

The Chief Executive traced this prosperity to the union which the Civil War preserved and saw in today's ceremony a sign that resentment between north and south was being forgotten and "reconciliation is becoming complete." The whole nation, he said, could join in celebrating the battles fought in this vicinity because, "out of a common expiation our common country has been greatly blessed."

"In these advantages, as it has slowly risen from its prostration, the South has more than amply repaid," Mr. Coolidge said. "Since 1900 that progress has been most marked. In the Southern States alone the wealth, the manufactured, the mineral, and the farm products, the banking resources, and the exports are of about the same value today that they were in the whole United States in 1900."

Is National Occasion. "This day, however, is not to mark a local or sectional occasion," Mr. Coolidge continued. "It is to mark a national occasion. The great questions which were at issue on these battle fields were national questions. Out of the decision to which they were finally brought there has been a common advantage and a common progress which has accrued to the whole Nation. Had the decision been otherwise we should have all been robbed of a great part of the pride which we all feel today in our country. Her achievements of the past years would have been divested of much of their value and her prospects for the future would have been devoid of much of their hope. Instead of one great country enjoying domestic peace and progress, holding a commanding position in the world, we should have been a region of hostile factions, impotent at home and despised abroad. The service which we did for the cause of humanity in 1862, the world crisis in which we successfully performed our part in 1917, would all have been impossible. Long since our common heritage would have been dissipated, our glory would have departed."

Referring to the country's progress since 1860, President Coolidge said:

"Many different elements have contributed to this development, but they all rest upon the fundamental fact that we are a large country furnishing a large market able to consume the output of mass production."

"This situation has encouraged the introduction of labor-saving machinery," he added.

Mechanical Power. Mechanical power in the United States now is equivalent to the work of 3,000,000,000 employees in other industries," the President said. In transportation, average freight rates have been halved to one cent per mile since 1860, passenger traffic has been trebled and freight traffic expanded six times in value, while 72,000 miles of improved roads have been built, he went on.

The world war, Mr. Coolidge added, showed the soundness of America's financial structure when, abandoning her role of debtor nation, she advanced large sums to foreign countries besides carrying on her own war activities with no internal economic disruption.

NO WORD FROM BRITISH FLIER

HOPE FOR SAFETY ALMOST GONE

LT. COMMANDER H. C. McDONALD

British aviator, who took off alone in his tiny Moth plane from Newfoundland for a flight to Ireland, is long overdue with the certainty that the supply of gasoline in his ship has long been exhausted, and it is feared he has become the nineteenth aviator-victim of the Atlantic. Friends cling to two possibilities, that he was able to alight on an island off the Irish coast or has been picked up by some ship which has no radio.

McDonald's tiny Moth, weighing only 880 pounds, and with a wing-spread of only 26 feet, was like a midge when compared to Lindbergh's Spirit of St. Louis which spanned 46 feet and was equipped with a powerful nine-cylinder motor.

McDonald is shown standing beside the little bird in which he had pinned his faith.

Steward Man in Auto Mishap in Rockford

Rockford, Oct. 19.—Ray Grant, secretary-treasurer of the Rockford Varnish company, received a cut on one ear and minor lacerations on the face when his automobile collided with a machine driven by Morris Cook, Steward, Wednesday.

Grant's car was forced against the southwest corner of the intersection and demolished the street signs there.

Cristopher Smith of Nelson is Dead

Christopher Smith passed away at 8:45 this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Max Genz at Nelson. Funeral services will be conducted Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from St. Paul's Lutheran church, Nelson. Lloyd W. Walter officiating and with interment in Oakwood.

MAC DONALD LONG OVERDUE; MAY BE SAFE ON ISLAND

Lights Kept Ablaze on Flying Fields During the Night

London, October 19.—(AP)—Flares that had burned all night at Croydon and other airdromes to guide Lieutenant Commander H. C. MacDonald to a safe landing were extinguished at dawn today and hope that he had survived went out of the hearts of many. It was the general belief that he had become the nineteenth person to perish trying to fly the Atlantic.

At the most his tiny Moth plane, in which he risked his life in an attempt to fly alone from Newfoundland, could hold only enough gasoline for 35 hours of flying and the thirty-fifth hour passed at 3:51 A. M. (10:51 P. M. yesterday, Eastern Standard time.)

Two Possibilities. Airdrome officials were decidedly pessimistic regarding the airman's fate saying that there were only two slight possibilities now—that he had alighted on some remote island off the west coast of Scotland or had been picked up by a boat unpeppared with wireless.

Another night of anxious vigil was spent by the flier's wife, but she still clung to the slight possibilities as hopes.

Only once had MacDonald been reported since he left Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, Wednesday at 11:51 A. M. Eastern standard time. "The Dutch steamship Hardenberg reported sighting of an airplane at 7:30 P. M. Eastern Standard time, Wednesday far north of MacDonald's course. The position given was 700 miles east and north of Harbor Grace and the airman had then some 1,200 miles to fly to reach Ireland.

The message came after 25 hours of complete silence and Mrs. MacDonald voiced his ominous import when she remarked: "That is a long time ago."

REPORT SEEING LIGHT

Steamship Mirach, October 19.—(AP)—(By Radio to The Associated Press)—The Mirach sighted at 11:30 P. M. Greenwich Meridian time Wednesday night (6:30 P. M. Eastern Standard time) at latitude 53.03 north, longitude 43.42 west in bearing 130 true at a big distance lights most probably resembling an explosion.

The position given by the Mirach is about 550 miles east of Belle Isle, Newfoundland, and along the course which Lieutenant Commander H. C. MacDonald was flying when sighted by the steamship Hardenberg at 7:30 P. M. Eastern Standard time Wednesday night 150 miles further east. Since the Hardenberg reported that the airplane passed an hour later than the time given by the Mirach for sighting lights it seems improbable that the Mirach has evidence of a disaster to MacDonald's plane.

which placed agricultural produce under the tariff. Senator Borah also launched an attack upon Tammany Hall, which he charged had continually sought the control of the liquor traffic in the nation and which he termed as "an oligarchy which has degraded beyond measure one of the great cities of the United States."

EXHUMED BODY OF FARM HAND TO PROBE CASE

Cause of Death to be Determined by Tuscola Prosecutor

Tuscola, Ill., Oct. 19.—(AP)—The death of Walter McAllister became the subject of renewed study today when a coroner's jury was reconvened to disentangle, if possible, the threads of mystery surrounding the farm hand's death.

McAllister's body was to be exhumed in an attempt to ascertain how he was killed in a grade crossing accident last week. Emil Carroll, McAllister's employer, said his hired man was killed when a train struck the car in which the pair were riding.

Carroll's wife, named as beneficiary in five policies of insurance made out to McAllister, said she knew nothing of them. Most of the policies, which totaled $15,000, were taken out since June of this year.

A baseball bat, found near the spot where the car was wrecked in the train accident, was identified as Carroll's. Carroll has claimed that McAllister was ready to jump from the car on the crossing, but trainmen and a doctor said the farm hand's legs were bound in a blanket. An inner tube had been twisted around McAllister's leg. Coroner Gilgolly said.

It was pointed out that Carroll's car was enclosed in side curtains at the time of the accident, although the weather was unusually warm.

Developments during the investigation of McAllister's death have disclosed the Carroll and McAllister had been to Villa Grove, 19 miles away, to collect a debt and were on their way home when the accident occurred. They were returning by way of Knobloch Lane, although a shorter route would have taken them over the paved road through Tuscola.

On Lonely Road.

About a quarter of a mile east of the grade crossing where the crash occurred at midnight, they stopped to repair a puncture and while so doing William Carroll, brother of Emil, returning to Atwood from Champaign happened along the same route, while they were patching the tire.

Shortly afterward a freight train struck their automobile rolling it nearly a quarter of a mile down the tracks. The train crew found McAllister dead in the rear seat. It was testified, his feet on the seat and his head hanging down at the door. The storm curtains were up on all sides of the automobile although it was brought out that the night of the accident was one of the warmest of the season.

Emil Had No Injuries.

The engineer testified he had to pull down the blanket wrapped around McAllister's body in order to see his face. Emil Carroll was found just west of the crossing, apparently unconscious. He appeared to suffer great pain but an examination did not reveal broken or dislocated bones. He was scratched. He said he yelled to McAllister to "get out of here" when the motor stalled on the crossing with the locomotive only 250 feet away.

Carroll said he dived through the curtains at the driver's seat.

Ball Bat Found.

It was found that McAllister's right leg had a cut inner-tube around it. His skull was badly crushed at the base but his body was otherwise unmarked except for a black eye. A baseball bat identified as Carroll's was found a short distance up the railroad tracks.

On Monday State's Attorney Robert Cotton of Douglas county discovered that eight accident insurance policies had been issued to McAllister with Mrs. Carroll's employer's wife as beneficiary. The policies totaled $14,750. Most of it was of cheap accident type but two were for $5,000.

The coroner's inquest, which returned a verdict of accidental death, was to reconvene today and an autopsy was to be performed on McAllister's body, which was exhumed.

The wrecked automobile was completely stripped of tools, tires, battery and all removable accessories between the time of the accident and dawn.

Hurls Water Pitcher to Silence Speaker

Brookville, Fla., Oct. 19.—(AP)—When Leon Whitehurst arose to defend the Knights of Columbus at an anti-Smith political meeting here last night he was struck with a glass water pitcher alleged to have been hurled by former Mayor H. S. Simmons. He was only slightly injured. Whitehurst arose after the Rev. I. N. Aldrich, who conducted the meeting, had invited expressions from the audience. He did not complete his statement.

HIS LIFE THE PENALTY

EDWARD HICKMAN

Kidnaper and murderer of little Marion Parker, aged 10, daughter of a Los Angeles banker, died at 10 o'clock this morning on the gallows in San Quentin prison for his brutal crime.

Hickman deceived the child from school on a pretext that her father ransom letters to her father, signing himself "The Fox." Meeting the father by appointment, he collected the ransom money, but instead of giving him back his child Hickman gave Mr. Parker the girl's mutilated body. Hickman fled in an automobile and was captured at Pendleton, Oregon, after one of the most thrilling manhunts in the history of the Pacific coast.

ENTHUSIASM IS MANIFESTED IN G. O. P. MEETING

Capacity Crowd Heard Republican Speakers Last Evening

About forty of the leading Republicans of Lee County made a tour of the county yesterday and were greeted by good crowds. At Franklin Grove the meeting was well attended and the speakers were Harry Warner, Judge Edwards, Congressman Johnson and Mark C. Keller. The caravan then proceeded to Ash-ton, Steward, Lee, Paw Paw, Compton, Amboy and Dixon. The meeting at Amboy was largely attended, and the speakers were Otis Glenn, Fred Sterling, Judge Edwards, Geo. Dixon, Mark C. Keller, Henry Allen and John Byers.

The meeting at Dixon was by far the best which has been held in Dixon in many years. Congressman Johnson was introduced by Chairman Harry Warner, and he spoke at some length on tax reduction, and gave some very interesting figures relative to the reduction of income taxes. Chairman Warner then introduced Otis F. Glenn, Republican candidate for United States Senator, and Mr. Warner in his introductory remarks said: "In my opinion no man in the State of Illinois is better equipped for legislative service than the next United States Senator from Illinois, Otis F. Glenn, who will now address you."

Mr. Glenn in a very able and forcible manner gave a history of the achievements of the Republican party from its inception to date, and then dwelt upon the issues advocated by the Democratic party. And as to those issues he had this to say:

"The Democrats were for secession in the campaign of 1861, and again in 1884, 1888 and 1892 was the issue of free trade or the protective tariff. In 1896 the issue was Free Silver or 16 to 1 as it was in the campaign of 1900, and in 1916 it was 'Peace with Honor, he kept us out of War.' This year we find that we are agreed as to all these issues, for after nearly sixty years the leader of the Democratic party admits that we were always right on protective tariff."

Glenn then stated that this was not a campaign of issues but more of a campaign of personalities, and then paid a tribute to Gov. Alfred E. Smith. He then dwelt at some length on the life and magnificent work for Herbert Hoover. In closing Mr. Glenn said that if he was elected to the Senate of the United States that he would represent all the people of this great state no

PAID SUPREME PENALTY FOR BRUTAL CRIME

Walked Unemotionally to His Death in San Quentin Prison

San Quentin Prison, Calif., Oct. 19.—(AP)—William Edward Hickman was hanged here today for the murder of 12-year-old Marlan Parker, Los Angeles school girl, whom he kidnaped last December. The trap was sprung at 10:10 a. m.

The youth, who boastfully called himself "the fox," walked to the trap, white, but with little outward appearance of emotion, consistent to the last breath with the attitude displayed since he was arrested in Oregon.

Up a flight of 13 steps he went, preceded by Rev. William Fleming, Roman Catholic priest, under whose spiritual guidance he turned from fatalism to Christianity in the shadow of the noose.

His arms were strapped to his sides. On either side and behind him marched a guard. In a semicircle were some two hundred persons who saw him die.

The priest chanted the litany of the dead from the Roman Catholic ritual as the death march progressed and Hickman made the responses. The doomed man's lips scarcely moved, but he followed without a noticeable break.

Hickman walked to his death steady and straight as a ramrod, but his knees shook as he stood on the trap an instant before it was sprung. Twenty seconds after he entered the gallows room the trap was released.

Hickman was pronounced dead at 10:25 a. m.

Had Letter From Mother

The doomed man's father, Thomas Hickman, gave Warden James B. Holohan, a signed order to deliver the body to a San Francisco undertaker, but the prison official declined to state where it would be sent. It was previously announced that the body would be taken to the east for burial, but the name of the town was not announced.

One of Hickman's last moments was the reading of a letter from his mother, Mrs. Eva M. Hickman of Kansas City, delivered to him a few minutes before he was led to the gallows. He wept. It was the first time guards had seen tears in his eyes since his doom was sealed.

The contents of Mrs. Hickman's letter were not disclosed. Hickman received and read three other comforting letters from relatives during the morning.

There was a telegram from Rev. Edward Brady in Rochester, N. Y., who was one of Hickman's first spiritual advisers after he entered San Quentin.

Wrote Note to Pal

Hickman demonstrated his attitude in a note written to Russell St. Clair Betzel of Los Angeles, now under death sentence for murder. Betzel was Hickman's cell mate for a time before the latter was moved to the death cell.

The note said: "I'm very comfortable here, Russ. I'm not a bit frightened either. Tomorrow I'm going to walk up like a man. Say goodbye to my friends for me and tell them I'll see them soon."

Hickman transformed the death cell into a room of flowers and music yesterday. He asked Warden James Holohan for the photograph which is passed around among the prisoners in "condemned row," and for flowers. A big bunch of red peonies was gathered for him from the prison garden.

The youth spent nearly half an hour arranging the bouquet, and alternately played the phonograph and wrote letters.

He received a final letter from his mother, Mrs. Eva M. Hickman, who is in seclusion near Kansas City Hickman's home.

"The letter from his mother was read eagerly by Hickman," the warden said. "He seemed to receive the greatest consolation from it. Mrs. Hickman wrote words of comfort and expressed her regret at not being able to bid him farewell. The youth read the letter several times."

ARM USELESS IN NEURITIS AGONY RELIEF AMAZING

New Gly-Cas Ended Suffering Almost Year Ago; Still Enjoying Good Health.

"About a year ago I got two boxes of Gly-Cas to get rid of neuritis and those two boxes benefited me more than anything I ever had taken—in fact, they proved almost miraculous, for this medicine did absolutely what was claimed for it."

Mrs. E. J. Lease, respected and well-known lady living on R. R. No. 1, Dixon, made the foregoing statement to the Gly-Cas Man just recently in praise of this great new vegetable compound at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy. Mrs. Lease is one of a number of residents in this section who took Gly-Cas before the Gly-Cas Man came here to specially introduce and explain this remarkable preparation.

"I had the neuritis in my neck and shoulders," she continued. "It was especially severe in my right shoulder. I could not turn my head, the pain was so intense and I could not use my right arm at all. To be frank, I was almost an invalid and I was suffering intense pain night and day."

"It has now been practically a year since I stopped taking Gly-Cas and I have honestly not suffered or been bothered with that former terrible neuritis since. I simply enjoy good health now, am able and do perform my duties at home and I surely know that I owe my well condition and health to Gly-Cas."

"I tell you, Gly-Cas is one medicine that does what it claimed for it—also a medicine that you can hear constantly recommended by your friends and neighbors."

It is surprising what this new Gly-Cas will do in so many cases of stomach, liver, bowel, blood, nerve troubles, neuritis, rheumatism. Many former sufferers have said that Gly-Cas seemed to act like magic in their cases.

Gly-Cas sold in Dixon at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy. Sold Franklin Grove, G. S. Ives; Polo, C. R. Clothier; Ashton, G. R. Charters; Amboy, Aschenbrenner Drug; Compton, W. H. Hills; Rochelle, Barker & Sullivan and by leading druggists in all surrounding towns.

Big Change In Face Powder

A good face powder today must do more than merely remove shine—it should stay on longer, prevent the pores from getting larger, spread smoothly, and leave a peachy look on the complexion. A new French Process Powder called MELLO-GLO does these things. MELLO-GLO is truly wonderful. You will simply love it. Campbell's White Cross Drug Store.—Adv.

matter whether they were Republicans, Democrats, Catholics, Protestants, White or Black or Jew. In closing he said:

"I am for farm relief, flood control, for waterway development, conservation of our natural resources, for an adequate army navy and air force. I am against entangling alliances with foreign nations. I am for the out-laws of war. I am for organized labor and against organized crime. I am not a fanatic on the liquor question. I do not believe that the Volstead Act is perfect. I am willing to let the people speak, and abide by their decision; but I am against the saloon and its inevitable companions, houses of prostitution and the gambling halls. I am not afraid to meet my opponent upon that issue and I know what the verdict will be."

FROM A TEXAS WINDOW—
High over the roofs of the buildings, over the chimneys of little houses, over the streets and electric signs, I look across the town.
Toward the rim of smokestacks and lesser roofs and water towers at its edge.
And beyond them lie the prairies—A level, green-tan sea
Stretching peacefully into the pale blue of the horizon.
A sharp wind whistles impatiently around the corners of my building.
Far below is the jangle of street signals.
The never-ceasing rush of cars and people.
Busy shops, newsboys, street vendors. But beyond the town—far over the tops of the roofs.
Past the little chimneys and gray streets.
Lie the prairies—
Calm, proud—
A vast, quiet kingdom,
Silent in the pale September sunshine.

Hallowe'en Colors Bewitch Your Party Menu

The spooks are abroad and the witches are about.

The goblins'll get you if you don't watch out!
The owls are hooting "tu whit tu whit tu whoo!"

Better light your pumpkin-lamp and get a move on you!

Hallowe'en—golden jack o'lanterns! Witches riding the firmament on broom handles; owls hooting their mysterious messages to spooky forms gliding about in the ether! Gay masquerades where the black cats spell your fortune and a harvest moon laughs at your party-antics.

Everybody has a party on Hallowe'en, or goes to one, or has a little family celebration. The old and tried entertainments of perhaps the best ones for they carry with them the glory of tradition. There will be bobbing for apples, and the reading of "invisible" fortunes, written in milk and translated by holding them to the light of a candle. Partners will be chosen, perhaps, by the method of selecting silhouettes thrown against a sheet. The decorations—of course—will be yellow and black, the true All Saints' color.

If you want to have a "talked about" party, with some unusual and modern feature that is sure to be remembered, retain the old favorites, but dazzle your guests with the modern by carrying out the yellow and black color scheme in your menu. Such a menu will include the favorite Cider punch and gingerbread made in a new way. Jack o' Lantern salad, and Hob-Goblin Sandwiches. Following are the tested recipes for these 1928 dishes:

Jack O'Lantern Salad.

Golden jack o' lanterns you can eat are these novel stuffed oranges, which resemble grinning pumpkin faces:

- 1 can grapefruit.
- Sections of 2 oranges
- 4 slices pineapple
- 8 ripe olives
- 1 pkg. cream cheese
- 4 orange skins, with pulp removed.
- Mayonnaise dressing

Cut the pineapple, orange and grapefruit sections into medium sized pieces. Add the ripe olives, which have been sliced lengthwise.

Cut off the top of four oranges; scoop out the pulp, being careful not to press the orange shell out of shape. Cut "eyes," "nose," and "mouth" in the side of the orange skin by making four triangular holes.

Fill the orange shell with the fruit and olive mixture. Place a ball of cream cheese on top, and garnish with a little mayonnaise dressing. Nuts may be used if desired.

This recipe makes four servings.

Owl Sandwiches

It's a wise owl indeed who serves these sandwiches; the "owls" are golden brown dates laid on top each brown bread sandwich. The butter helps to carry out the yellow color scheme or, if you wish, you may add a tiny bit of mayonnaise to each one.

- 1 cup (½ pkg.) pitted dates

- ½ teaspoon cinnamon.
- 2 tablespoons orange juice.
- ¼ cup butter.

- 1 1-pound loaf Boston Brown bread.

Chop the dates finely in a food chopper or wooden bowl. Add the cinnamon and orange juice to form a paste. Spread the mixture on thin rounds of buttered bread and cut in halves.

This recipe will make 12 sandwiches.

Witches' Brew

A golden clear cider punch, with a new flavor, lent it by the addition of canned grapefruit juice, is the following recipe. To add a unique touch to the proceedings, let each guest serve himself from a metal "witches' cauldron." The juice left over from the salad recipe may be used in this punch.

- 1 can grapefruit (or juice).
- ½ cup sugar.
- 2 cups water.
- 1 quart cider.

Pack the grapefruit in equal parts of ice and salt or in the freezing compartment of the electric refrigerator for 3 to 4 hours. Make a syrup of the sugar and water. Cool. Open the can of grapefruit by cutting just under the top rim so that the contents may be removed in a mold. Place in a punch bowl, or serving container. Pour over the cooled syrup and the cider. Serve in punch glasses with a spoon, or in tin cups.

Hob-Goblin Gingerbread

(With Hallowe'en Icing)

The gingerbread that is so necessary a part of every Hallowe'en party will have a 1928 flavor if you use this "different" recipe. It is especially recommended for children's parties:

- 2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoons ginger
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 cup (½ pkg.) dates, sliced.
- 1-3 cup melted shortening.
- ¾ cup molasses.
- 1 egg.
- ½ cup milk.

Sift the flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices together. Work the dates into the dry ingredients with the finger tips. Place the melted shortening in a mixing bowl; add molasses, beaten egg and milk.

Add the dry ingredients all at once and beat vigorously until smooth. Bake in muffin tins or in a shallow pan in a moderate oven (350 F.) for 30 to 40 minutes.

When done, cool slightly, and ice with orange icing. Simple decorations may be added on the top by using melted chocolate and putting on with a toothpick.

This recipe will make 12 cup cakes.

First Concert Anticipated With Pleasure

The first concert in the Dixon Civic Music course for this winter will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock at the Dixon theater. The hour is placed somewhat earlier so that it may not interfere with any early vesper hour in any of the churches. The attraction is Dayton Westminster Choir, and it should prove a most inspiring and delightful musical treat for all attending. The circle of Civic Music members has widened greatly in Dixon territory, many citizens from surrounding towns and communities now being members. This brings new impetus and life into the circle and makes for greater energy and appreciation. The wonderful growth of the Civic Music Association in this territory is one of the outstanding and satisfying facts of the last five years of which Dixon may well be proud.

Jon Finley Williamson is the director of the Westminster Choir and a most enjoyable concert is assured all who will attend the concert Sunday.

Enjoyable Meeting Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary, Dixon Post No. 12, met in regular session Wednesday afternoon, with a very good attendance for such a stormy day.

The Hospital chairman reported 29 lbs. of carpet rags sent to Edward Hines Jr. Hospital, and a very fine attendance and a good time enjoyed by those at the all day meeting last week.

The Ways and Means chairman reported the Christmas cards and the work on the Auxiliary quilt progressing very satisfactorily.

The quilt is on display in the window of the Geisenheimer store and will be given away at the card party next week, Thursday P. M. in Legion Hall.

The Civic chairman reported on the cemetery work, and the Auxiliary voted to pay for this. Also voted to donate to the Y. M. C. A. drive.

The members of both the Post and Auxiliary are very grateful to the Ministerial Association of Dixon for their cooperation in observing services in all churches Sunday, Nov. 11, Armistice Day, in memory and as an act of appreciation for the sacrifice and service given by the men in those dark days of the World War, and "Lest we forget" those men who are still making the sacrifice in hospitals all over our United States.

At the next meeting of the Auxiliary the election of the new officers for the coming year will be held.

Happy Gathering At Partner Home

A company of cousins motored from different points in Iowa to spend the week-end with Mrs. J. D. Portner and a happy family gathering resulted at her home in Grand Detour. They included in the party Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hartley and son Allen and daughter, Mrs. Leo Pott-ratz Jr., and two children, and Mr. and Mrs. Jason Bullman and two sons, Howard and Gene of New Albion; Joe Martin of Church, and Mrs. Alice Green, all of Iowa.

On Sunday they entertained at a delightful picnic dinner Mr. and Mrs. Martin H. Portner of Rock Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Portner and two sons and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Musgrave of Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Toms and five sons of Pine Creek; Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Portner of Grand Detour; Wayne and Maynard Seeley of Coleta; and Lloyd Holzhauser and boy friend from Maywood; also Miss Edith Portner, who was home for the week end. All had a most delightful time. It was a memorable gathering in some respects for Mrs. Portner had not seen the Iowa relatives for over fifty years.

For Redemption Of Church Music

From "The Christian Century," Oct. 20, 1927.

BY PAUL HUTCHINSON

During the last few years the Westminster choir, of Dayton, O., has won wide acclaim for the concerts which it has given in many American cities. Singing nothing but sacred music this choir has brought to thousands of Americans a new conception of the richness of the material available in this field, and a new sense of the dignity and warmth which may be added to worship through proper use of the music already at hand. To the public at large however, it is likely that the choir has been regarded simply as a concert feature, with no more significance than belongs to any first class entertainment. Few have known it as an actual church organization, an integral part of the service of worship in a Presbyterian church in Dayton, O. But there is something even more meaningful than this behind the rise of the Westminster choir to national prominence. The choir is only the outward and visible sign of an inner and still larger unknown attempt to raise the standards of church music throughout the whole country. It is with this that I am now concerned.

Philharmonic Society Was Entertained

The Philharmonic Society met at the home of Miss Josephine Anderson Wednesday evening. The paper for the evening was given on "The Development of the Orchestra," by Miss Maxine Rosenthal. A number of new members joined the club as follows: Mary Hamilton, Myra Alice Warner, Sara Altkruse, Avis Cromwell, Eleanor Hennessey.

After the business meeting and program delicious refreshments were enjoyed.

Miss Elsa Larson Guest of Honor

At a very charming dinner party last evening given by Miss Esther Barton at her home, Miss Elsa Larson of DeKalb was the guest of honor. Miss Larson has just returned from spending three or four months abroad, in the interests of her art and gift shop which she conducts in DeKalb. Other guests present from DeKalb were Miss Mabel Gustafson and Miss Ruth Thurkald, and Miss Helen Merriman of Chillicothe, Mo. was also a guest, ten being present at the dinner.

The table was beautifully decorated in shades of yellow, yellow flowers adding much to the delightful result. Miss Larson as the guest of honor was presented with a handsome corsage.

A very happy evening was spent following the dinner.

Sunshine Class Held Happy Meeting

The monthly social meeting of the Sunshine class was held last evening in the church parlors, about thirty members being present. A short business meeting was held after which a social time was engaged in. A musical program was given which was as follows:

Piano selection, Reverie, by Mrs. Carrie Bremer.

Patrol (March) Louise Wilson.

Vale of Song by Maxine Christ-lance.

Recitation, October's Bright Blue Weather, by Mildred Malarkey.

The Little Blue Pigeon, by Maxine Christ-lance.

Piano Solo, Salute to the Colors, by Louise Wilson.

Games were then played until a late hour, when dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mesdames Schultz, Martinson, Malarkey, Spielman and Ankeny.

Surprise and Shower Held for Newlyweds

Miss Stata Brimblecom, Catherine Gillman and Mildred Drew were hostesses at a surprise party and miscellaneous shower held at the A. C. Jones home in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Jones, newlyweds, on Monday evening. There were sixty-five relatives and friends present at the happy affair and everyone spent a happy evening. Mrs. Jones was formerly Miss Ethel Miller of Polo. Music and games occupied the evening hours. Later Mrs. P. G. McMahon in behalf of those present in a gracious presentation speech gave the bride and bridegroom a number of handsome gifts with the best wishes of all present for a life of happiness and prosperity for the newlyweds. Very nice refreshments were enjoyed by everyone. The entire evening was a great success in every way.

DES MOINES WOMAN "PRACTICAL POLITICIAN"

Des Moines—(AP)—There are "practical politicians" among women, and noteworthy of these is Mrs. Louise M. Dodson, former county recorder, who successfully ran for office before women could vote.

Because she knows politics Mrs. Dodson was chosen head of the women's division of the Chicago office of the national republican committee.

In 1903 while her husband was campaigning for state's attorney, he died, leaving Mrs. Dodson with a small son and an equally small estate. She taught school in Pennsylvania, but teaching offered no attractions. Running for office did.

The county recorder's office was hers ten years. For several years she has shown Republican organizations in Middle-western states how to get out the women's vote.

ATTENDED DINNER IN WALTON WEDNESDAY EVENING

On Wednesday evening a large number of Dixon people attended the chicken dinner given at Walton by the ladies of the congregation of St. Mary's Catholic church. The dinner was given in connection with the bazaar being held in Walton. Those attending from Dixon included Miss Tess Henkey and John Valle, Clarence Valle and Miss Mary Valle, Harry Hogan and his mother, Mrs. Patrick Hogan, Mr. and Mrs. James Valle, William Hogan, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Valle.

MRS. MARTHA SHIPPETT IS ILL IN SOUTH

Mrs. Addie Eastman has received word that Mrs. Martha Shippett, who has been in St. Louis, Mo., for some time for the benefit of her health, that she is very ill and wishes her friends to write to her. Her address is 4318 Olive St.

MRS. LUMSDEN LEAVES FOR GARDEN PRAIRIE, ILL.

Mrs. E. C. Lumsden has closed her home in this city and has gone to Garden Prairie, Ill., where she will make her home with her mother and brothers.

W. R. C. TO MEET MONDAY AFTERNOON

The W. R. C. will meet Monday

"AS MAINE GOES."

Four years ago Maine gave the Republican ticket a majority of 36,000.

Two years ago the majority was 20,000.

This year, in the recent election, the voters endorsed Republican principles and Republican candidates by a majority of 81,000—double the majority of four years ago, twice the majority of 1926.

In this striking fashion has Maine, political barometer of the nation, approved Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis. True, the names of the nominees did not appear on the ballots, but the entire campaign was waged on national issues. Republican candidates for state offices based their appeals for election on the achievements of the Coolidge Administration and the merits of the Hoover-Curtis ticket. The result is a remarkable vindication of their campaign.

Political thought in Maine undoubtedly reflects political thought in other states. It cannot be doubted that the overwhelming majority in the Pine Tree State will exert a potent psychological effect in other parts of the nation. Most of all it is important because, as Chairman Work of the Republican National Committee stated, "it points inevitably to a similar national result in November."

OUR ROADS LEAD.

Fifteen years ago the roads of Europe were vastly superior to the roads of America. Now the situation is reversed, according to a speaker before the recent convention of the Society of Automotive Engineers at Quebec.

European roads were, in many cases, ruined by the war. Since then the financial difficulties in which the various governments have been involved have prevented the proper maintenance and repair of the highways.

In this country, on the other hand, tremendous strides have been made. The growing popularity of the automobile made good roads imperative. Fifteen years ago a man could drive 500 miles without traveling a tenth of that distance on pavement. Now, in most parts of the country, the reverse is true.

Money spent on highways is money well spent. This country has learned that lesson at last.

The gas company in Cleveland threatened to shut off service the other day, in a rate disagreement. The city wasn't worrying, however. There was still quite a plentiful reserve supply of gas in the council chamber.

A British scientist says he has found that matter may be divided into even smaller particles than the electron. Probably he has been talking to the golfer whose wife beat him in an 18-hole match.

A Boston newspaper, citing population figures of 799,200, claims eighth place among the cities of the United States. Substantiation of the claim is amply provided by the Boston Red Sox.

Several gentlemen of our acquaintance who had been planning business trips to St. Louis and Philadelphia changed their minds at the last minute and went to New York and St. Louis instead.

A Boston newspaper chronicles the fact that Senator Arthur R. Gould of Maine has recovered his secret recipe for pea soup. We are anxiously waiting to hear how both major parties stand on the question.

Statistics show that Chicago has more than 300,000 visitors every day. The spirit of adventure is not dead yet.

Suggested campaign song for 1928: "Whisper and I Shall Hear."

Headlines we are beginning to fear you'll never see: "Police Shoot Three Racketeers; Arrest Twelve."

When Lot's wife turned into a pillar of salt, she probably was driving on the wrong side of the street.

It's a question which will win out this year—the whispering campaign or that conducted by loud speakers.

In an Indiana town roosters are forbidden to crow before 5 a. m. An ordinance ordering all hens to lay at least one egg each day also ought to help along.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Hey! What has happened? Goodness me!" cried Scouty. "Just where can we be? Our little sparrow's flown away. He's far, far out of sight. And look! Our plane is perched up high upon a mountain top. Oh, my, we're left in quite a risky fix. We're in for it all right."

Then Coppy joined right in and said, "It's funny we don't go ahead, and topple down the mountain. I'm so scared I'm really weak. Our poor old sparrow surely tried to keep us on this wondrous ride, but when some shots rang out I guess 'twas better that he sneak."

"But, look, there is no need to fret. No real harm's happened to us yet. Our plane is perched upon the peak. I do not think 'twill slip." "That's just the trouble," Coppy said. "Why, we can't even go to bed. Where could we sleep? It's our fault for starting on this trip."

The whole bunch sat and thought a while. They knew they were at least a mile from level ground. This surely was an awful break of luck. How could they get to earth again? Of course the whole bunch, now and then, got in some bad predicament, but this time they were stuck.

At last brave Scouty shouted, "Say, I think that we can get away. Let's all move forward on the plane and try to make it slide. If we do this, with real good care, and coax the plane out in the air, I'm sure we'll keep it level so 'twill take a graceful glide."

The plane was tried, and in a bit they found that they were moving it. It started tipping forward. Then it left the mountain peak. Out in the air, real safe and sound, it glided downward toward the ground. The Tines were so tickled that they all began to shriek.

(The Tynimies have a thrilling ride in the next story.)

As Others See It

HOOVER AT NEWARK

(Grand Rapids Herald)

The most powerful and telling speech of the political campaign to date was that which Candidate Hoover made Monday night at Newark. Mr. Hoover was not hampered as in his acceptance speech by the necessity of covering a vast number of subjects. Instead he limited himself specifically to Labor's interest in the campaign; and no man in all the country is better equipped to discuss such a subject. As an economist of international standing, Mr. Hoover understands the importance of the protective tariff to Labor. In typically few words he pierced the mask of protectionism behind which one faction of the Democratic party attempts to hide in the hunt for votes, while Governor Smith himself points approvingly to the Underwood tariff which opened the flood gates to foreign industrial and agricultural competition. With a similar verbal thrust, Mr. Hoover gave at Newark whole-hearted approval to the theory of collective bargaining which likewise is indorsed in plain language in the Republican platform. Hoover's own interest in the adjudication of mine labor controversies in the past clearly has emphasized his personal approval of the principle back of American Labor organizing. Perhaps, however, the real high spot of his Newark address was that which touched the subject of immigration. Here the policies of the two candidates sharply cleave. Hoover said at Palo Alto, and he repeated at Newark, that the principle of restricting present quota law is sound and must be continued for the protection of American Labor.

Gov. Smith has said just as plainly that he does not approve such restriction. The Democratic candidate stated in his acceptance speech: "I am opposed to the principle of restriction based upon the figures of immigrant population, combined in a census 38 years old." Governor Smith as well as everybody else knows that to adopt any other more recent census as a basis for quota fixing would sharply increase the immigration from southern and eastern Europe, while reducing the number eligible from such western and northern European countries as Germany, Ireland, Scotland, England, France, Scandinavia, etc. New York City has been the continuous central point of the persisting efforts to break down the present immigration law under which American labor is protected against excess influx of foreign labor. The Democratic candidate agrees with that viewpoint. Candidate Hoover, on the other hand, believes that the flow of immigration should continue to be restrained as at present, within the limits of the country's ability to assimilate aliens.

Not only American Labor, but the thinking public as a whole, will agree that the Republican candidate's position as regards the tariff, as regards Labor and as regards immigration is sounder and safer than that of Governor Smith and the Democracy.

FRIGHT CAUSED FATAL AIRPLANE MISHAP IN EAST

One Killed, Seven Hurt in Crash of Plane at Atlantic City

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 19.—(AP)—A frightened passenger who gripped the controls of an airplane in which prominent bankers were making a sightseeing trip over Atlantic City was believed responsible today for the crash of the plane and the death of one of the occupants and the serious injury of the others. Eight men were in the plane.

W. Octave Chanute, Denver investment banker, died in the Atlantic City hospital two hours after the accident. Mr. Chanute and four of the other passengers were delegates to the annual convention of the Investment Bankers Association here.

The injured are:
Pliny Jewel, vice president of Coffin & Burr, Inc., Boston, and former president of the association, fractured skull; condition critical.

Thomas Dysart, president of Knight, Dysart & Gamble, St. Louis, an also a former president of the association, broken ribs, internal injuries and broken left wrist, condition critical.

Henry L. Duer, of W. W. Lanahan & Company, Boston, shock and minor injuries.

Alden H. Little of Chicago, executive vice president of the association, cuts and bruises.

Ralph Somers of Absecon, N. J., internal injuries and shock.

George King of Garden City, L. I., pilot, possible fracture of the right leg and shock.

Two Tall Spins
The plane was returning to the field after a flight over the city. Watchers on the ground saw it go into a tall spin when approximately 2000 feet in the air, right itself, go into another spin and crash to the ground.

The charge that someone had "frozen" the controls making it impossible for him to straighten the plane out when she went into the spin was made by King, the pilot.

The plane fell to telephone and telegraph lines before buying its nose in the marsh near the Florida Avenue turnpike and that the soft condition of the ground is believed to have saved the lives of the other passengers.

Spot Inaccessible
The spot where it fell is almost inaccessible, a freight engine and coal car of the Pennsylvania Railroad being commandeered to take the wounded to a street where they could be put into ambulances. Policemen and other rescuers had to wade into water to their waists to reach the wreckage of the plane.

Mrs. Chanute was among those at the air field who saw the plane fall. She and her 16-year-old daughter, Elaine, had accompanied Mr. Chanute here to the meeting.

Mr. Chanute and Mr. Oysart were both close friends of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Mr. Dysart being one of the backers of his trans-Atlantic flight.

Mr. Chanute is the grandson of the late D. Octave Chanute, the first of Chicago, who is known as "the father of aviation." Chanute Field at Rantoul, Ill., is named after the elder Chanute.

Curious Facts About Presidents

G. O. P. NEW YORK
One of the most famous of campaign tricks was the Murchison Letter of 1888.

A Republican politician wrote to the British ambassador, Sir Lionel Sackville-West, signing himself Charles F. Murchison of Pomona, Calif. The writer represented himself as a loyal Briton, though a naturalized American, and wouldn't the ambassador tell him which candidate was better from the British standpoint?

Sackville-West fell for it and replied that perhaps Cleveland—then running on a low tariff platform—was more favorably disposed toward England. The Republicans sprang the reply two weeks before election, hoping to carry pivotal New York with its large Irish vote, and did.

Cleveland sent Sir Lionel packing back to London.

Threats Made Against
Life of Taxi Co. Head

Chicago, Oct. 18.—(AP)—A threat against the life of John Hertz, president of the Yellow Vab Company, has stimulated grand jury action to rid Chicago of its "bomb trust" and taxicab war.

Hertz told police yesterday he had received warnings that his life would be taken. Subpoenas were prepared at once for Robert McLaughlin, president of the Checker Taxi Company, and two Checker Company attorneys. A grand jury will question them concerning alleged disputes between employees of the two companies.

Following the fatal shooting of a Checker driver, two Yellow Cab garages were bombed three weeks ago. A few days later the Hertz racing stables at Cary, Ill., were destroyed in a $200,000 fire in which 11 thoroughbred horses were burned. The grand jury, whose work is to begin tomorrow, will investigate not only the reputed taxicab war, but all bombings of the past few weeks.

Poets' Corner

ELEVEN GOURDS
Eleven gourds are hanging low
Where the grapes in clusters grow.
And they form a novel show
To everyone.

When walking 'neath their rambling vine,
Where the twirling tendrils twine,
You must needs your head incline
If you would pass.

Some handles have so smooth and long;
Others are so short, but strong;
Still Dame Nature ne'er was wrong
When moulding them.

Dippers are made from those you see,
Swinging slow and swaying free;
Dishes from the ones with stems
Short as can be.

So, nothing wastes in Nature's hoard;
Even of the simple gourd
Something useful can be made
And safely stored.
—Bela R. Halderman,
Franklin Grove, Ill.

THE FARMER

"The farmer sat in his easy chair
Smoking his pipe of clay,
While his hale, old wife with busy care
Was clearing the dinner away;
A sweet little girl with fine blue eyes
On her grandfather's knee was Catching flies.

"The old man laid his hand on her head,
With a tear on his wrinkled face,
He thought how often her mother,
Dead,
Had sat in the self-same place;

As the tear stole down from his half-shut eye,
"Don't smoke," said the child, "how it makes you cry."

"The house-dog lay stretched out on the floor,
Where the shade, afternoons, used to steal;
The busy old wife by the open door
Was turning the old churn wheel.
And the old clock on the mantle-tree
Had plodded along to almost three.

"Still the farmer sat in his easy chair,
While close to his heaving breast
The moistened brow and the cheek
So fair
Of his sweet grandchild were pressed;
His head bent down, on her soft hair lay—
Fast asleep were they both that summer day."
—Mrs. Florabelle Throop,
Grand De Tour.

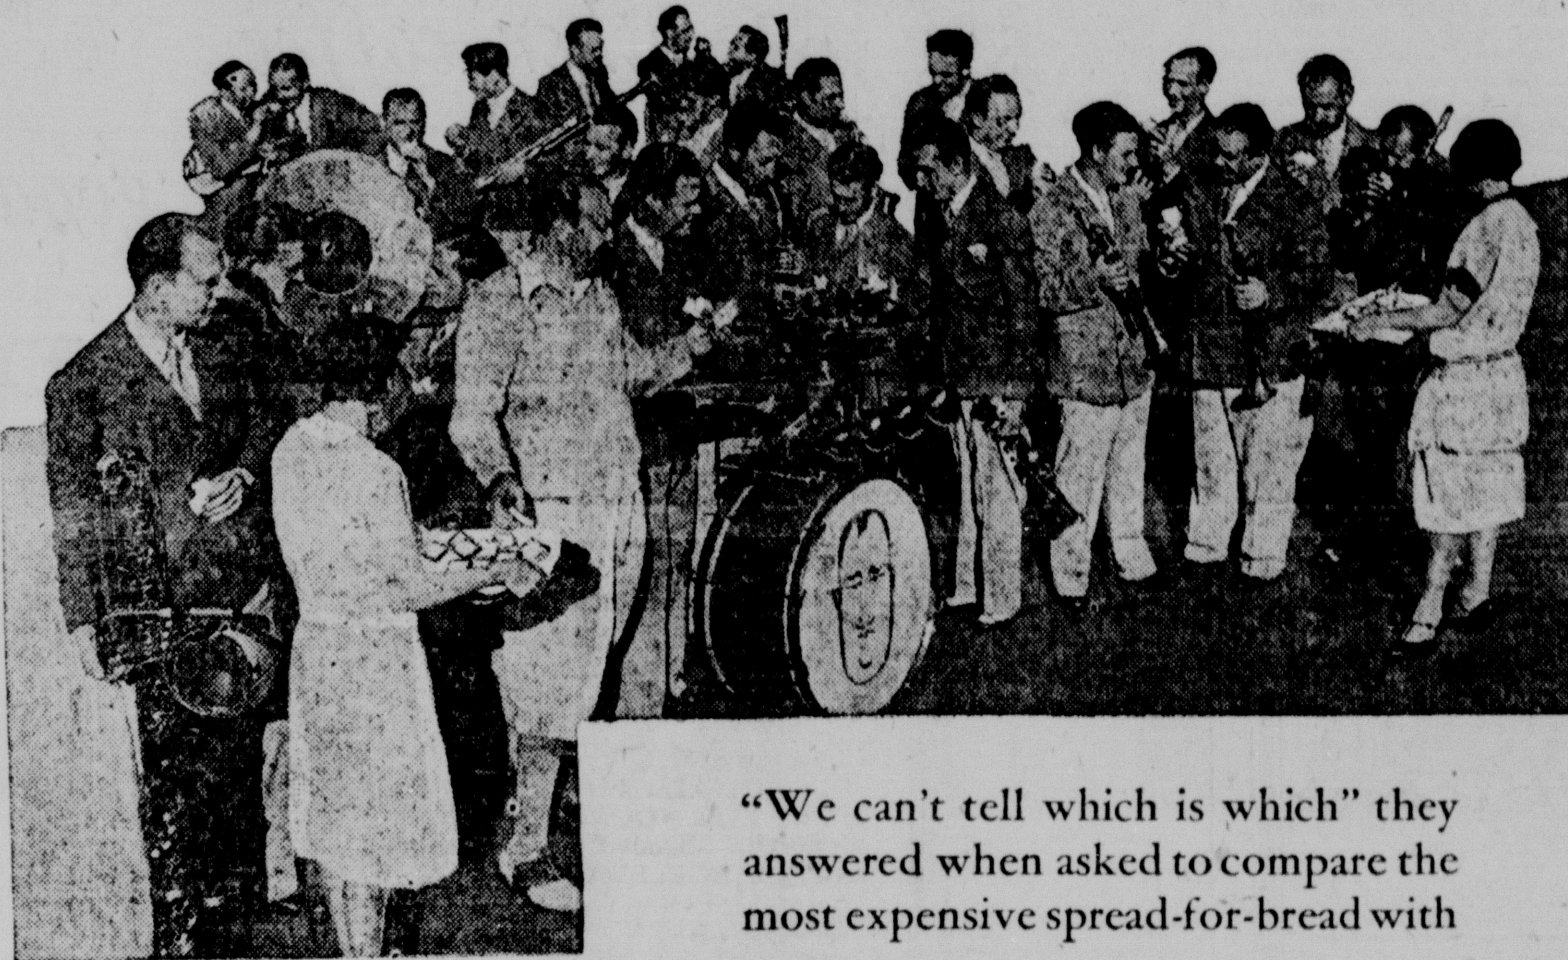

THE PERFECT TEST

The professor, a noted botanist,
Had given instructions that a dish
Of mushrooms he had gathered himself were to be cooked and given to his wife at supper time.

At breakfast on the following morning the professor greeted his wife anxiously.

"Sleep well, my dear?" he asked.
"SPLENDIDLY."
"You didn't feel ill at all during the night? No pains or anything like that?"
"Of course not, dear."
The professor gave a shrill cheer.
"Hurrah," he cried. "I've discovered yet another species of mushroom that isn't poisonous.—Answers.

Here's Paul Whiteman, surrounded by the members of his world-famous band, making the Challenge Flavor Test. Each tasted two slices of bread, one of which was spread with GOOD LUCK and the other with the most expensive spread-for-bread obtainable

JELKE GOOD LUCK MARGARINE

THE members of Paul Whiteman's band, living as they do in the world's finest hotels, are expert judges of good food . . . artists of epicurean tastes.

YET NOT ONE of these twenty-five unrivalled exponents of modern music was able to detect the slightest difference between the flavor of GOOD LUCK and that of the most expensive spread-for-bread.

GOOD LUCK is no ordinary margarine made of inexpensive vegetable oils. It derives its wonderful, rich flavor and its highly nourishing qualities from selected meat products. Yet it costs but a trifle more than common grades . . . very much less than expensive spreads-for-bread.

140 YEARS OF THE PRESIDENTIAL PARADE!

Editor's Note: The two Cleveland-Harrison battles are described in this chapter of "The Presidential Parade." Rodney Dutcher's series on presidential politics.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer
(Copyright, 1928, NEA Service, Inc.)
Washington, Oct. 19.—"What's the good of being re-elected if you don't stand for anything?"
That question was asked by honest President Grover Cleveland. His disregard for political expediency helped elect him, then defeated him, re-elected him over the man who beat him and finally caused his repudiation by his own party.
Being the first Democratic president since Buchanan, Cleveland was beset by Democratic politicians demanding a clean sweep of federal offices. He compromised with the reforming Mugwumps who elected him and with his party's spoilsmen, pleasing neither and enraging the latter when he demanded further civil service reform.
Makes Enemies
He made more enemies when he stopped pension frauds by vetoing many private bills. He fought off radical Democrats demanding free silver. Finally he came out flat against the protective tariff, explaining: "Perhaps I made a mistake from a party standpoint, but damn it, it was right."
He did make a mistake from a party standpoint, for he lost many Democratic votes in manufacturing cities. But he was the first party candidate since 1840 to be nominated by acclamation without a vote.

came the voters were angry and taught the party a lesson. They elected 236 Democratic congressmen and only 88 Republicans.
Nominated Again
Harrison is generally underestimated, but he was a good, able man. His first Congress had quered the administration, however, and led to his defeat.
Leading politicians opposed his renomination and wanted Blaine, who left them flat in February by refusing to run, although he later expressed grief when not nominated. Harrison won on the first ballot, although Blaine and McKinley had 182 apiece.
Governor David B. Hill of New York desperately opposed Cleveland's renomination, getting his state convention to meet in February and elect a full delegation for himself. Cleveland was always unpopular with the bosses and they charged him with defeating the party by injecting the tariff in '88. The other states accused Hill of double-crossing Cleveland in '88 and told Tammany to go chase itself, nominating Cleveland on the first ballot.
Cleveland won probably because the McKinley tariff had brought great profits to factory owners, but they hadn't yet passed any of them on in higher wages for workers, and many farmers were seeing their mortgages foreclosed.
He carried the south, all doubtful states and Illinois, California and Wisconsin. Fusions with Populists to beat Harrison captured Colorado, Idaho, Kansas and Nevada. Third parties had 10 per cent of the vote. The popular and electoral count:
Cleveland 5,540,000 227
Harrison 5,175,000 145
Weaver (Pop.) 1,041,000 22
Prohibitionists had 255,000 and the Socialists 21,000 popular votes.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Be ye angry, and son not; let not the sun go down upon your wrath.—Eph. 4:26.
.....
Anger is the most impotent passion that accompanies the mind of man; it effects nothing it goes about; and hurts the man who is possessed by it more than any other against whom it is directed.—Clarendon.

Good Thoughts for Good People

Desirable guests are always cordially welcomed and cared for in the most tender fashion. Their lovely traits are appreciated and made much of, that they may be enjoyed to the fullest. Just so should every least mental sense of good receive at one's hands the most joyful reception and protection. Then by so filling our thought with the beautiful and true there will be no place for aught else.

Christian Science Sentinel.
Do not think of your faults; still less of others' faults. In every person who comes near you look for what is good and strong; honor that; rejoice in it; and as you can, try to imitate it, and your faults will drop off like dead leaves when their time comes.

John Ruskin.
Each one sees what he carries in his heart.

Goethe.
Where you are is of no moment but only what you are doing there. It is not the place that enables you but you the place; and this only by doing what is great and noble.

Petrarch.
Whatever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.

BRETHREN CHURCH.
Corner 3rd & Madison
And still they come, rain or shine! Last evening again found a full house of earnest worshippers at the Brethren church where Rev. Stutsman is holding and enlarging his group of eager listeners. The boys and girls of all ages from five to eighty will not soon forget the story of the king's son at the cost of his own life, and which is open only to those who follow the king's directions for locating and crossing it. "The Mistake of a Business Man," which was the subject of the sermon, had a clinching warning for the person who is inclined to forget God in his plans. A number have accepted the Christ as their Savior, and others are seriously counting the cost, which is wise. Word comes from other places that the meetings are being remembered in prayer. Every Christian should pray that souls may find the light that satisfies the soul's natural longing. A group of about thirty from Franklin Grove, with two numbers of music by their quartet, was a great help to the services last evening. Come again.
The story for the children this evening will be, "How Two Crooks Became Honest," and the sermon, "Making a Mockery of Sin."
Bring your friends and come with a prayer for the meeting. Everybody invited.

BRETHREN CHURCH

Corner 3rd & Madison
And still they come, rain or shine! Last evening again found a full house of earnest worshippers at the Brethren church where Rev. Stutsman is holding and enlarging his group of eager listeners. The boys and girls of all ages from five to eighty will not soon forget the story of the king's son at the cost of his own life, and which is open only to those who follow the king's directions for locating and crossing it. "The Mistake of a Business Man," which was the subject of the sermon, had a clinching warning for the person who is inclined to forget God in his plans. A number have accepted the Christ as their Savior, and others are seriously counting the cost, which is wise. Word comes from other places that the meetings are being remembered in prayer. Every Christian should pray that souls may find the light that satisfies the soul's natural longing. A group of about thirty from Franklin Grove, with two numbers of music by their quartet, was a great help to the services last evening. Come again.

HOOVER ALPHABET.
By Mabel F. Martin

ZEAL:
Hoover inspires it in all who work with him.
Hoover fires others with the glory of a great task. What housewife can forget the food campaign during the war? In European countries, food rationing had been regulated by law, and managed by expensive police systems, and even then people evaded the law and hated the food dictator as an arch enemy of society. Hoover's food administration did not ration the consumers. Hoover invited the housekeepers to co-operate with him and help win the war. Millions of people all over the country responded with the loyalty of crusaders.
When in times of great disaster Hoover has issued a call for volunteers for rescue work, men of splendid technical training and exceptional abilities have renounced high-paid jobs to work under Hoover for nothing.
We do job printing. For first-class work call on B. F. Shaw Printing Co., Dixon, Ill.

DETAILS OF CORN PICKING CONTEST ARE FORMULATED.
Will be Held on Adam Gonnerman Farm on Monday, Oct. 29.
Further details concerning the Lee county corn picking contest, which will be held Monday, Oct. 29, at the Adam Gonnerman farm south of Ashton to pick this county's representative in the state contest, have been announced by the Lee Co. Farm Bureau.
The contest this year will be carried on very much the same as it was last year, the huskers to husk one hour and 20 minutes, starting and ending with the gun. A driver will be furnished with each wagon. Men will follow behind the men to gather up any corn that is overthrown or left. A referee will also follow along. At the end of an hour and 20 minutes the loads will be weighed. One hundred pounds of corn will be weighed out and the husks taken from it and weighed. A penalty will be given for the husks. The penalty is as follows: The men are allowed four ounces per 100 pounds of corn husked, then anything above four ounces there is a penalty for.
In the contest held at Amboy last year, E. A. Cupp of Franklin Grove won first place and picked 15.57 bushels and Walter Kurz was second and picked 15.54. They were so close that it was decided to hold a second contest, and at this contest Mr. Cupp could not attend due to sickness of his wife, and Walter Kurz won first with 20.7 bushels, while McGuirk picked 15.2 bushels.

The Torn "Fin"

This striking picture shows the great hole torn in the left elevator—or "fin"—that almost caused disaster to the giant Graf Zeppelin when it was caught in a furious storm far out over the Atlantic ocean. At the risk of his life, Knut Eckener (son of Dr. Hugo Eckener, the ship's builder) fastened a rope around his waist and crawled along a treacherous runway, hundreds of feet above the tossing Atlantic, to make temporary repairs. Eckener's job enabled the pilots to regain control of the ship, but the great rent, visible here, remained and slowed the airship's speed. An NEA Service photographer, with camera pointed directly upward, snapped this picture as the crippled Zeppelin flew over New York. Arrow points to the tear in the fin.

Labor and Steel Officials Honored

James A. Farrell, left, president of the U. S. Steel Corporation, and Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, right, were about to attain an unusual degree of distinction when this picture was taken. At St. Bonaventure College, Allegheny, N. Y., they were named Honorary Doctors of Laws, the institution's highest honor. Between them here stands the Rev. Thomas Plassman, O. F. M., president of the college.

HOOVER PREPARES THRUST

BY JAMES L. WEST

Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Oct. 19—(AP)—The final thrust Herbert Hoover is to make into eastern territory—his visit to New York City next Monday—is to be much less strenuous than the campaign tours he has made during the last month.

Street processions and long automobile touring through crowds, which formed a large part of his activities on his journey to Newark, Elizabethton and Boston, have been eliminated from the program of his trip to the home town of his Democratic opponent, as have rear platform speeches and overnight train rides.

The Republican presidential candidate will leave here Sunday afternoon, arriving in New York in time to have a good night's rest at his hotel, to which he will drive directly from the Pennsylvania railroad station. He will be welcomed to the metropolis by Charles R. Hilles, National Edmund Machold, State Chairman, National Committeemen for New York, and other leaders.

Plans for Day

Under present plans all of Monday will be spent at the hotel. Some party leaders will be guests of the candidate at breakfast. Later during the forenoon, Hoover will receive delegations from various foreign groups and probably will make brief talks to them.

During the afternoon, the nominee will receive Republican service men who have been promoting his candidacy and later will rest in his suite before dinner and the speech he is to deliver at Madison Square Garden that night. Vice President Charles G. Dawe also is to speak on the same program, which will be carried to the country over a nation-wide radio hookup.

Hoover will spend Monday night in New York and return to Washington Tuesday afternoon to conduct a "front porch" campaign at his headquarters here during the week intervening before he starts on his last campaign trip which will take him to his California home where he will vote.

Chicago, Oct. 19—(AP)—Still silent on the line of attack he will adopt, Governor Smith today planned to put the finishing touches on the address he will deliver tonight in the 131st Regiment Armory in an effort to swing this normally Republican state into the Democratic column in November.

The Democratic presidential nominee put in nearly all of yesterday working on the speech and late last night completed a tentative draft. The first thing on his schedule today called for a revision of this rough outline and then for his participation in a two and a half hour tour of Chicago by automobile.

The night speech of Governor Smith will be the seventh he has delivered since his present swing through the south and border states of Tennessee, Kentucky and Missouri, all of which he feels confident of winning in the rapidly approaching national election. The address also will bring to a close his second extensive tour of the campaign.

Tomorrow will see him speeding eastward to prepare for this third and final campaign dash which will carry him down the Atlantic seaboard from Boston to Baltimore. On the way east to Albany, he will stop late in the afternoon for an hour in Indianapolis, where Democratic chiefs have arranged a parade in his honor.

Governor Smith's first full day in Chicago was spent almost entirely within the seclusion of the Congress Hotel. He received several Democratic leaders and delegations of well-wishers.

One of the delegations he received was a group of labor leaders headed by John Fitzpatrick of the Chicago Federation of Labor, who call themselves the Alfred E. Smith for President Union Labor League. The delegation, claiming to represent 500,000 trade unionists, presented the nominee a resolution attacking the Republican party on its farm relief, prohibition, labor and other stands and praising Governor Smith's "profound humanitarianism" and "ideals of Americanism."

In a brief reply, the Democratic standard bearer thanked the delegation for its support and promised he would devote an entire speech to labor soon, probably in Boston.

RUTH DEWEY GROVES AUTHOR OF "WHEN A GIRL LOVES" "LOVE FOR TWO" etc.

"Was Dan Harvey around this morning?" he asked abruptly.

IT was the novelty of the noises she heard and not their volume that wakened Jerry that first morning in "camp." The racket sounded for all the world like a chorus of cats having a concert in the trees.

"My first chance to sleep late on a Monday morning, and the birds have to spoil it," Jerry wailed. "An elevator train would not have bothered me half so much."

"Well, you should worry," Myrtle grinned. "It's a wonder you could sleep at all with Alester Carstairs on your mind."

"Isn't he wonderful?" she cried enthusiastically. "I never thought I'd meet anyone like him."

"Yeah, God's gift to shopgirls," Myrtle answered with a short laugh. Then, suddenly serious, "Better watch your step kiddo. The boy seems to like your company."

Jerry threw the camp blankets back with quick impatience. "Let's get something to eat," she said, reaching for her shoes and stockings.

"You'll have a tough time if you're always so overcome with his nips' glory that you can't eat in his presence," Myrtle teased her. "That was some swell supper you passed up last night. I wish I knew what the salad was."

"I think it was alligator pear," Jerry replied, desiring to keep Myrtle off the subject of Alester Carstairs. She wasn't going to like being teased about him in connection with her avowed ambition to marry money, she told herself. Myrtle had a way of making it look cheap, while really, if you considered it sensibly, . . .

"Well, anyway, I'm glad you made a hit with him," Myrtle broke in on her thoughts. "I'll have a swell camping outfit next year with the money he's giving me for the damage his plane did, and we've got a stove that works so we can have a hot breakfast."

She paused and looked around the room. "Fixed this place up great, didn't he? Just like rubbing a magic lantern. 'Marsh do this and Marsh do that.' Presto. But you know," she added confidentially, "I think the other chap would wear better."

JERRY stood still and looked at her unsmilingly.

"I wouldn't want to marry Alester Carstairs without knowing him better," she said sharply. "But you don't need to be warning me about him. I've known some boys with half of next week's pay spent in advance who weren't anything to go around with blindfolded. The reason some people stop right where they were born is because they think everyone who has money is the villain in the piece. And it's a sure thing you'll never interest a man by showing him you think he's better than you are."

"That isn't it at all, Jerry," Myrtle came back earnestly. "This guy doesn't speak your language. 'You might as well be living on different worlds. I was born here. I know. If you were a chorus girl, now. . . .'

"What's the use of our arguing it?" Jerry interrupted. "Whatever happens will be between Alester and me."

JERRY said nothing more and in a few minutes they were trying out the new oil stove and finding it satisfactory. After a hearty breakfast they set about cleaning up the living room and arranging the porch furniture.

Myrtle noticed that Jerry frequently cast her eyes in the direction of the highway and assumed that she was thinking of Alester. As a matter of fact she was thinking of Dan Harvey. The men who were to repair the plane hadn't come and Jerry was wondering if he would be with them when they did arrive.

She was impatient with herself because he had entered her thoughts. He had no place there. What could he mean to her? He wasn't half so pleasant as his employer. She couldn't, however, forget the sensation she had known when she came to consciousness in his arms. It had been, for a brief moment, startlingly agreeable.

An hour passed. She told Myrtle that her head was aching and her friend suggested a swim. The sun was high now and the buzz of countless insects was vocal proof that the day was running a temperature.

He came in a black roadster with yellow leather upholstery and much gleaming nickel. Jerry thrilled when she climbed into it and Myrtle stood by, unable to still a slight pang of envy. It had never crossed her mind to wish she had fallen in love with anyone other than George, but she realized now that Jerry certainly was getting the break she had wanted.

BY three o'clock Jerry was really pale and tired. The men had gone, though the plane remained. It was not yet ready to be flown. Jerry did not ask so she did not know that. Maybe they were leaving it for Dan to fly. The thought robbed the prospect of driving with Alester of a little of its pleasure. What if Dan came and flew away while she was absent? Well, of course, that wouldn't mean anything except that she'd rather like to see him take off.

Her attitude, when Alester came, surprised him. He'd been telling himself that she was flattered by his attentions, a shade too ready to accept them to suit his taste. But then, that kind of girl would be easy to handle. If she wasn't amusing after the first meeting or two he'd drop her.

He came in a black roadster with yellow leather upholstery and much gleaming nickel. Jerry thrilled when she climbed into it and Myrtle stood by, unable to still a slight pang of envy. News From Grid Camps of Large Schools of West

BY PAUL R. MICKELSON

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Chicago, Oct. 19.—(AP)—So distinct are the odds in favor of three teams that Old Man Upset, the mythical gentleman who has performed frequently on the gridiron so far this season, will have an opportunity for a big afternoon in the Big Ten tomorrow.

Of the four conference games, only the Indiana-Illinois contest is regarded as a toss-up by the critics. Even in that game considerable surprise would be evoked if the Hoosiers beat the Illini for the first time in ten attempts since 1903.

But the other three games would be upsets of the most stunning variety if Michigan defeated Ohio State, Chicago stopped Minnesota and if Purdue outscored Wisconsin. In each instance the underdog eleven has worked long and hard hours in practice this week to accomplish the seemingly impossible, and coaches at Minnesota, Wisconsin and Ohio State have put on their glummiest miens to forestall overconfidence.

Their ranks thinned by injuries and their morale lowered somewhat by defeats by South Carolina and Iowa, Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg and his University of Chicago Maroons invaded Minnesota today with defeat regarded as a foregone conclusion. Captain Saul Wieslow, a dependable tackler; Rudy Leyers, star fullback; Wayne Cassle, guard and place kicker, and Joe Garen, pudgy tackle, were so badly injured they aren't even taken to Minnesota; while several of the other stars may not get into the game. Minnesota, however, was vir-

Long-filler, ripe tobacco from heart to wrapper. No "scraps" or short ends. No bitter under-ripe top leaves of the plant. No flat-tasting over-ripe bottom leaves. usually free of injuries and showed vast improvement in blocking and running interference.

Michigan, defeated in its two games against Ohio Wesleyan and Indiana, wasn't conceded much of a chance to defeat Ohio State at Columbus. Coach Tad Wieman has attempted to bolster his team's offensive and cause trouble for the Buckeyes, who are undefeated. Thirty-one Wolverines, accompanied by Coaches including Fielding H. Yost, invaded Columbus. The game is expected to attract 92,000 spectators.

Wisconsin's 22 to 6 victory over Notre Dame has made it a favorite over Purdue. Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite of the Badgers has drilled them vigorously all week for the game, while Purdue has been throwing up a tight defense. The Badgers, 33 strong, stopped over here last night, and proceeded to Lafayette today.

Coach Pat Page had three elevens at Illinois today and the Hoosiers were on edge for the game. Coach Bob Zuppke holds them in high regard, and has indicated he would send his ceterans against Indiana at the outset.

Northwestern probably will send its strongest team against Kentucky in their intersectional game at Evanston tomorrow. With the exception of Lee Hanley, all the Northwestern players are in good shape for the first time this season. The Kentucky Wildcats compose one of the heaviest teams in the country, averaging 192 pounds in the line and 175 pounds in the backfield.

Iowa has merely limbered up in preparation for its non-conference game with Ripon College of Wisconsin, falling to engage in one scrimmage during the entire week. Coach Bud Ingwersen said he probably would use second string men against Ripon.

DIXON CRIPPLES FIGHT STERLING HERE TOMORROW

DoubleHeader Carded for Football Fans of Community

Two teams in the Rock River Valley conference, neither of which have won a game thus far this season, will clash at the north side athletic field tomorrow afternoon when the Sterling and Dixon high school football crews meet. Dixon will present a crippled lineup in the heavyweight game with three regulars missing from the back field and two from the line. Sterling has a team composed of new players but is not handicapped by cripples. Two of the stellar linemen will be missing from the Dixon line because of injuries.

Teeter, strong man of the backfield, has been slowed up in practice this week because of a bad leg, but will start against Sterling. Kitteringham of Rockford will referee the contest. Swanson of Augustana College, Rock Island umpiring and Johnson of Polo will serve as head linesman.

The Ponies will endeavor to add another victory to their string opening the afternoon bill against Sterling at 1:15. The main event will follow immediately after the lightweight game.

Larger and Lighter Golf Ball Possible

Chicago, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The United States Golfers' Association is experimenting with golf balls of various sizes and weights with the intention of producing a better ball for all-around tournament play, but no change is contemplated before 1930, if then. Melvin A. Traylor, president of the association, reports.

Experiments were started following another outburst of criticism this summer that the present regulation ball was too lively and that long distance hitters like Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen had too much of an advantage over specialists in iron play during the championship tournaments.

The U. S. G. A. plans to make the golf ball a trifle large and somewhat lighter if any change is made at all, Traylor said.

Grange Undecided

Chicago, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Harold "Red" Grange, the "Galloping Ghost" of Illinois football history is now doing a song and dance act in vaudeville, but he may return to the gridiron for just one more game this fall. "Sometimes I think I'd like to play one more game and sometimes I'm not so sure," Grange remarked between curtain calls yesterday. "But I suppose I'll wind up by crashing into a game sometime before the season is up. My leg that was hurt in a professional game last fall is all right again and I am in good condition."

Wiggins Suspended

Chicago, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Fighters who won't fight and fighters who strike foul punches better stay out of Illinois.

Chuch Wiggins, Indianapolis heavyweight, is the latest of many to incur the Illinois Boxing Commission's wrath. For fouling Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, in their match Wednesday night, the commission fined Wiggins $500 and suspended him for six months. The suspension is effective in 27 states affiliated with the Illinois Commission.

Petrolle Injured

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Billy Petrolle, the " Fargo Express" and contender for Sammy Mandell's lightweight crown, injured his hands so severely in his losing bout with King Tut of Minneapolis Tuesday night that he has been forced out of the ring for six weeks.

Bouts with Jimmy Goodrich of Buffalo at Chicago, October 29 and Tommy Grogan of Omaha at Detroit, November 10, have been cancelled.
